HISTORY OF ALPHA AND DELTA PSI OMEGA

The organization, development, and growth of Alpha and Delta Psi Omega is a result of the wide-spread interest of colleges and universities of America in dramatic arts in the early twentieth century. By 1920 most colleges had some kind of a dramatic club that was staging annual play productions for students and the local community. The little theatre movement and dramatic workshop idea made its appearance about that time and greatly stimulated the importance of the college drama and the worthwhile nature of the programs presented. This was especially true in western colleges, and by 1920 several national honor fraternities to recognize and reward student participation in play production had been organized.

Alpha Psi Omega, the first of these societies to be founded in the East, was organized at Fairmont State College in Fairmont, West Virginia on August 12, 1925. The college theatre idea had begun to manifest itself in Fairmont about 1921, and, in 1923, a faculty director was employed, and an organization, called the Masquers, was instituted to present an annual program of four or five major productions for students and the public. In 1924, the Masquers began to consider membership in some national honor society in dramatics as a means of rewarding its most faithful and loyal workers. Plans for forming such a national organization were seriously studied by a committee, composed of Elinor B. Watson, Robert Sloan, and Paul F. Opp, faculty director of dramatics at Fairmont. A proposed national constitution was drawn up, and, on August 12, 1925, those members of the Masquers who met the qualifications of the honor society approved the constitution and adopted the name, Alpha Psi Omega. It was decided that each chapter was to be called a "cast", and Fairmont became Alpha Cast. The interest of Marshall College in Huntington, West Virginia assured the immediate national character of Alpha Psi Omega with the establishment of Beta Cast. A member of Beta Cast suggested the name Playbill, for the national magazine.

During the course of the next year, eighteen new chapters were admitted, and twenty chapters were on the roll at the time of the meeting of the first national convention, at the Palmer House in Chicago on December 27-28, 1926. National conventions, called Grand Rehearsals, are held every five years.

Alpha Psi Omega has sponsored the formation of honor societies in high schools and junior colleges, thus encouraging dramatic production at every step in a student's career, from the preparatory school to college graduation. Delta Psi Omega was organized among the junior colleges in 1929, and now has a membership of more than 350 chapters. The Alpha Psi Omega Grand Rehearsal meeting at St. Louis in 1936 voted to recognize Delta Psi Omega as an affiliated junior college division.

Alpha Psi Omega has enjoyed continuous national growth, and with over 550 chapters is the largest national honor society in America. Membership in Alpha Psi Omega is granted only to fully accredited institutions with a four-year curriculum in theatre and drama leading to a degree.

The business of Alpha and Delta Psi Omega is supervised by national officers. Such names as Paul Opp, Yetta Mitchell, Donald Garner, Jerry Henderson, and James Fisher are familiar to longtime member casts as officers in earlier years. Current officers are Teresa Choate (President), Frankie Day (Vice President), and Bret Jones (National Business Manager and Editor of Playbill).

Andrew Pfifer

My passion and future is in the theatre. I feel that at this point in my life, it is important to make the jump to professional theatre and surround myself with artists from whom I can learn and to whom I can hopefully teach something as well. Up until this point, I have been mostly involved with academic theatre. This arena has provided a wonderful opportunity for me to learn and grow in a nurturing educational setting, but I feel I'm ready to be in a more practical, hands on theatre environment. I really witnessed what I wanted to do when I was working this past summer. One of my favorite parts of my experience at Williamstown was my involvement in Tom Stoppard's On The Razzle. Razzle gave me the opportunity to experience a very different atmosphere than to what I was accustomed. Being around artists who were so committed, dedicated and serious about their craft was something that made quite an impression on me. I saw professional actors who were well known in their field, exceptional at what they do, and extremely happy with their lives. Who could ask for more?

Dues to Increase

At a meeting of the National Board at SETC in March, it was decided to increase national dues for the first time in more than a decade. Effective Jan. 1, 2007 national dues will increase from $20 to $30 for Alpha Psi Omega and from $10 to $15 for Delta Psi Omega.

Important Notice!

The age of technology is upon us, fellow Thespians!

For next year's Playbill submissions, Alpha Psi Omega is going to enter the Twenty-first century. All submissions will need to be in an electronic format. You can submit your pictures and chapter information in a couple of ways:

- 1) You can save pictures as JPEGs and burn them to CD with your chapter information in a Word file and mail to me:*

Bret Jones
National Business Manager
Alpha Psi Omega
East Central University
1100 E. 14th St., Box X-2
Ada, OK 74820

- 2) You can e-mail your JPEGs and Word file to me: bjones@ecok.edu. I will then be able to transfer your information to a folder on my computer. That way my e-mail account won't explode!*

Next year's deadline: June 15, 2007.
